Monday, November 1. 17e8.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 2. &c.

Vienna, October 20.

THE Cardinal of Saxe-Zeitz return'd hither Yesterday from the Baths of Carlsbad in Bohemia. And 'tis believ'd that the Emperor's Resolutions on the Remembrance of the Grievances of the Hungarians, transmitted to him by the Diet of Presbourg, will be carried thither by this Cardinal. We have receiv'd a Confirmation, that General Heister is march'd with his Cavalry from the Siege of Newhensel towards the Mountain Towns of Hungary. They write from Essek, that a Detachment of Foot and Horse were march'd from thence for Transilvania. We have Advice that Count Anthony Esterhazy, one of the chief Leaders of the Malecontents, appear'd the 14th of this Month, with a Body of 8000 Men, before the Village and Castle of Neydan on the Frontier of Stiria, and summon'd the Castle to surrender: But M. Malethuyne, a Captain in the Regiment of Breuner, who commanded in the Castle, gave him (for Answer) some Volleys of Cannon; and the Village refusing likewise to Submit to Contribution, the Malecontents burnt it, and retir'd to Steir on the Anger, with the Loss of 5 Men kill'd and 4 Waggons fill'd with wounded. Yesterday an Express was dispatch'd to the Rhine, with the Emperor's Approbation of the Elector of Hanover's Disposition of Winter Quarters for the Troops of the Empire.

London, November 1.

On Saturday arriv'd a Mail from Lisbon, with Letters dated October 30. N. S.

Lisbon, October 30. The Men of War from England, commanded by Sir George Byng, with the Merchant Ships under their Convoy, arriv'd the 25th, with the Royal Bride of our King. The Ship on which her Majesty was on board, came to an Anchor at Cascais very late at Night; and her Majesty being fatigued and indispos'd, with the Voyage, did not come up the River to land near the Palace till the 27th in the Afternoon. The King receiv'd her from on board, and carrying her Ashore, conducted her with great Pomp and Magificence to the Royal Chapel, where their Majesties receiv'd the Nuptial Benediction and heard Te Deum Sung: From thence the King led her to her Apartment; and at Night their Majesties with the Infantes Supp'd together in Publick in the greatest Splendour; From the Time of her Majesty's Arrival extraordinary Rejoycings have been made suitable to the Occasion, and all her Retinue are to be treated 9 Days at the King's Expence.

The Autumn Campaign on our Frontier is ended; and the Troops are dispos'd into their Winter Quarters. Reinforcements are expected from England against the Spring; and then 'tis said my Lord Galway will put himself at the Head of the Army. The Portuguese Forces are at present but weak, especially their Horse, and the 6 English Regiments in this Country are now but thin. At the same Time the Enemy have but a small Number of Forces on our Frontier; all they brought into the Field this Campaign not amounting to above 5000 Men. Nothing pass'd this Campaign of any Consequence on either Side: Some Excursions were made by Parties of both Armies at the Expence of the Countries near them; and the Portuguese have rather had the Advantage of the Enemy in that Kind. For, a Parry of the Troops of the Marquis de Frontera in Alentejo, took a considerable Number of Horses from the Enemy, a little before they separated; And the Count de St. Jean having drawn together some Troops and Peasants, made an Incursion into Galicia, and brought off a great Number of Cattle.

The Pope having nominated M. Bichi to come hither in Quality of Nuncio to relieve Cardinal Conti, we are assur'd this Court have refus'd to receive him, being well inform'd he is a very busy Man, and disapproving his Conduct among the Roman Catholick Cantons of Switzerland, where by his Intrigues and Cabals he has very much promoted the Interests of the two Crowns of France and Spain.

The 24th arriv'd here about 30 Ships of the Fleet from Brasil. They were separated from the rest of that Fleet and their Convoy, off Parambuco; and very fortunately arriv'd safe here, though our Coasts are infested by French Privateers. Their Lading consists of Forty Thousand Rolls of Tobacco, Fifty Thousand Chests of Sugar, and a great Quantity of Hides. 'Tis believ'd the rest of the Fleet have stopp'd in Brasil.

Here are arriv'd in Thirty Days from Barcelona, the Cornwall, Lancaster, and Norfolk, with two Dutch Men of War, and Fifty Merchants Ships and Transports under their Convoy: On board the British Ships are come about 200 Officers of Guiscard's and other reduc'd Regiments which serv'd in Catalonia.

Yesterday Sir George Byng, and Sir John Jennings, with the Squadron which came with the Queen from England, put to Sea agen, for the Mediteranean.
